

CALL FOR SURVEY PARTICIPANTS!

Child Removal In Native Communities: An Anonymous Survey

An anonymous study about the experiences and impacts of child removal through boarding schools, adoption, and foster care. It's time to break the silence and begin the healing!

Are you a boarding school survivor?
Do you have boarding school history in your family?
Have you ever been adopted or placed in foster care?

We need your help!

Courts, social workers, health practitioners, and the public do not know enough about the impacts of and link between adoption/foster care and boarding schools. We aim to change that!

Details

The National Native American Boarding School Healing Coalition, the First Nations Repatriation Institute, and the University of Minnesota have partnered on a study that seeks to better understand the child removal among American Indian and Alaska Native communities.

The survey is completely anonymous and does not collect any identifying information. It can be taken online at your convenience and will take you an average of 30 minutes.

Take the survey now at z.umn.edu/child-removal-study!

You may also request a paper copy by contacting:

Carolyn Liebler, Ph.D. or Department of Sociology
liebler@umn.edu
612-626-7252

The National Native American Boarding School Healing Coalition
info@nabshc.org
612-354-7700

We hope you will share your stories so that Americans can better understand child removal in American Indian and Alaska Native communities. Your participation will benefit boarding school survivors/descendants and adoptees/ formerly fostered individuals, their families, and Native communities for generations to come!

