4a (Code:) (Expenses $ 169,436 including grants of $) (Revenue $ 0)
Education: In September this past year, we introduced our first publication, Healing Voices Volume 1: A Primer on American Indian and Alaska Native Boarding Schools in the U.S. This newsletter style publication is meant to educate Natives and non-Natives alike on the history, impacts, and legacies of the U.S. Boarding School Era. In the summer of 2018, we were privileged to have our first full-time intern Emily McDonnell (Navajo) upload an additional 300+ resources to our online database of boarding school information. Be sure to check it out and share this educational resource with others! We have also established a Research Advisory Council made up of academic experts in boarding schools, archives, and digital projects as well as tribal archivists and researchers to advise NABS Staff on research projects and on the creation of our digital archive and data center.

4b (Code:) (Expenses $ 94,491 including grants of $) (Revenue $ 0)
Advocacy: The federal government still has not answered our request for information on the fate of children who attended boarding schools in the U.S.-their response: "we don't do research." We continue to search boarding school records with the help of independent researchers and are moving forward with our partners at the International Indian Treaty Council (IITC) and the Native American Rights Fund (NARF) to submit our filing for missing children to the United Nations next year. We have identified more than a dozen cases thus far. Please contact us at info@nabshc.org if you have information about children who went missing at boarding schools. NABS also continued our support for tribal repatriation from Carlisle this past year and is working with the Association on American Indian Affairs (AAIA) to advocate for the expanded scope of NAGPRA to cover boarding school cemeteries. There is great healing when these children finally get to return home. In the spring of 2018, NABS and NIEA launched our professional development curriculum for trauma-informed schools and classrooms. That curriculum is now being rolled out across the country in preparation for our next collaborative project for high school student curriculum in 2019. Everyone should be taught about boarding schools-this is American history not just Native American history. Healing NABS

4c (Code:) (Expenses $ 62,267 including grants of $) (Revenue $ 55,255)
Healing: NABS launched the Healing Voices movement a year ago and since then, over 30 Native youth have been empowered to use media to amplify their voice. We completed Youth Media Trainings and Healing Voices Story collection filming in Turtle Mountain, Alaska, and Wind River. We premiered some of the completed videos at our conference in October 2018 and plan to share the videos online in 2019. It's time to #BreakTheSilence and #BeginTheHealing. We held our first national conference, The Spirit Survives: A National Movement Toward Healing, on October 2-3, 2018 in Carlisle, PA which coincided with the 100-year anniversary of the school's closing. We had nearly 200 attendees who came from more than 70 different tribal nations across the country the majority of whom were boarding school survivors or descendants. In the fall of 2018, NABS met with Canadian Truth and Reconciliation Commissioner, Dr. Marie Wilson, and she emphasized that records and truth are highly valuable to the process of healing itself, not just a means to an end. As we continue to search for missing federal and church-run boarding school records to aid in truth, healing, and reconciliation, we've begun ramping up our work with church denominations. Third Program Service Accomplishments Description

Description

Shocking History" in Living Church magazine stated, "The churches were not just complicit. They were participatory [...] They received federal funding and helped carry out the [boarding school] policy." We continue to seek the full truth of the boarding school era and count on the churches to bring forth their boarding school records, enter into voluntary forms of repentance and atonement, and support Native-led healing.
